A SUCCESSFUL LIVESTOCK SHOW, INDEED . . .

LAST week Picayune played host to a grand livestock show. We have it on good authority, that this was the best show of its kind ever attended by the men from the Extension Department who judged our exhibits, who for years have been attending and judging shows over the state.

This fine affair and its success was marked with co-operation from beginning to end. . . . The exhibits were superb, every one in its class, a champion. . . . Yet, there had to be winners, first place, second place, third place and so on. . . . There were no losers in these contests. In reality, every individual exhibitor was a winner, whether he won a ribbon or not, as in competing in this show much fine experience was gained; and training of this kind is well worth any trouble which might have been encountered.

Too much cannot be said of the fine prizes which were donated to the association for distribution in order that a greater amount of enthusiasm might be created in the future. Mr. L. O. Crosby, Jr., aside from making a large cash donation for the show, presented six different 4-H club members each with a registered heifer. Mr. H. R. McIntosh donated three registered Jersey bulls to the dairymen of this section, also in the interest of better livestock in Pearl River County.

Mr. McIntosh's contribution of many hours of unremitting toil in the remodeling and building of several permanent buildings for the show, at his own expense, also makes up a grand list of credits which is rightly his.

The Board of Directors and Officers of the Livestock Association, who make most of the plans, direct the arrangements and take care of the millions of minute details so pertinent to the success of such an enterprise, deserve much credit for their magnificent work.

Individual exhibitors, too, were in the spirit of things, their absolute adherence to every rule and regulation laid down by the association was definitely marked.

The Picayune Junior Chamber of Commerce, whose refreshment stand actually became a part of the show itself, played a most important role in furnishing refreshments for the exhibitors, as well as the throngs who attended this swell demonstration.

To the hundreds who donated well over $6,000.00 to this progressive movement, your contribution might well be classified as an investment of wisdom. Your entire community will profit by your most liberal contribution.

Without this fine demonstration of co-operation your show could never have been so successful. A project as large as this one, which means so much to all, individually and collectively deserves the wholehearted support of everyone. We commend the people of Pearl River County upon a job well done.

Co-operation will help to "MAKE THE BEST BETTER." Editors Note: The above editorial of the Picayune Item in its issue of September 27th, 1945, should awaken the people of Hancock County as to what is happening in their neighboring County. The people of Pearl River County have a definite program and are working to put it over. The business people are backing this program. They know that the development of the rural areas means much to their business. The editor of the Item was right when he stated that the contributions made to this progressive movement could well be classified as an investment of wisdom. It may also be well for us to observe in this article that the Editor did not overlook to mention that the success of the show was marked with cooperation from beginning to end. We in Hancock County could probably learn much from our neighbors to the North of us, and learn we need to do if we hope to aid in the development of Hancock County.

TAKE CARE OF THE DISABLED

JIMMY Wilson, Private First Class, has good reason to appreciate the generosity of Americans, but, on the other hand, Americans have good reason to appreciate the sacrifice that he made for his country.

The soldier lost both legs and both arms in a plane crash and through newspaper publicity received gifts aggregating more than $15,000. This was a splendid exhibition of concern on the part of the people of the country but that concern should be extended to all men and women who were wounded in the wars that have ended.

Private Wilson, according to press dispatches, in the midst of his good fortune, thinks of another soldier, now his roommate in the hospital. He asks that the proceeds from articles to be auctioned off be given to another soldier who lost both legs and his right arm.

The nation faces a serious responsibility in relation to its disabled veterans and the public should not be misled by the good fortune that comes to individual soldiers who profit by the directed generosity of many citizens. So far as possible, the nation should take care of its disabled veterans in generous fashion, putting their welfare above that of veterans unhurt and far above that of the civilian population.

Without condemning the publicity that brought an avalanche of gifts and cash to Private Wilson, we call attention to the duty that every citizen owes to all disabled men and women. This must be expressed through legislation in Congress and the public should at all times, demand generous treatment for those who have been wounded and permanently disabled. This duty cannot be fulfilled by publicity stunts or occasional outbursts of generosity. It must be a settled national policy and have the support of every American.

There is no reason for Bay St. Louis to shrink from the future or to expect some new inhabitants to solve its problems. Every citizen should get busy and keep busy.

We can't say we are certain that there will be inflation or depression, in the years ahead, but regardless of what happens we can assert that the man or woman who has some money saved will be better off than those who have none.

NATIONAL WAR FUND DRIVE UNDERWAY

The final National War Fund drive got underway in Hancock County early Monday and Mrs. Doris M. Rea, county chairman, reports that if everyone will give "as generously as possible and as early as possible we'll wind up this campaign soon without too much trouble."

The War Fund is the one drive which aids 18 national agencies, such as the USO, and all local charity and character-building groups. It is designed to make giving to all charity groups a simple and single matter, rather than one of multiple drives and confusion.

"The end of the war did not bring an end to the need of the agencies in the War Fund," the chairman stated. "Instead, the military men and women in occupied territories will need our help for months to come. Governor Bailey, General Eisenhower and President Truman have issued statements telling how the need of the War Fund will continue."

"However, this is the final campaign. The funds raised this time will carry out the work of the War Fund as originally scheduled, but we can't turn our backs on them now. We must give, meet our quota, and then we can say we have finished this phase of the war effort."

"We sincerely call upon all citizens to give as generously as possible as early as possible, and we'll wind up this campaign soon without too much trouble."

Each community in the county has its individual task, the leader said, and when quotas are met, the community's task is completed insofar as the War Fund is concerned. This is the third annual drive by the War Fund in the county.

SHOULDER TO THE WHEEL

War exploded into sudden peace with the atomic bomb. The world wiped the dust from its weary eyes and men were as surprised as they were stunned to be pitched into that post-war period for which they had toiled, fought and prayed.

As we turn from war to peace, from destruction to construction, we confront problems almost as acute as those that followed Pearl Harbor. The change is as definite as that which comes to a discharged veteran when he exchanges his uniform for the clothes of a civilian.

We on the Mississippi Gulf Coast cannot escape a readjustment that is universal. To every individual and to every business here comes a turning point.

We are a fortunate people. Ours is a favored bit of the earth's expansive surface. We have so much for which to be thankful here. Under the urge of war we have prospered as never before, and most of us have been smart, and have saved money. All of us have bought war bonds. Some of us have bought homes and others have purchased lots and have building intentions. Many have ambitious plans for the future as they now prepare to meet the challenge of peace.

A monumental task lies ahead. There is urgent need for individual initiative, community resourcefulness and collective action. Never before have we needed so much unity or more of the spirit of wholehearted cooperation. These are sober as well as happy days for men and women of responsibility and purpose.

This bank, with your accumulated millions, seeks the opportunity to be of helpful service to you in these momentous times of readjustment.

If our Gulf Coast prosperity is to continue on into the post-war period—if we are to realize fully upon the promises of peace, we can best achieve it through teamwork.

Constructive as well as conservative, your bank pledges its experience, its resources and its service, as we move on to achieve a lasting prosperity. We, too, have put our shoulders to the wheel.

"NOB HILL," AT A. & G. THEATRE SUNDAY AND MONDAY

20th Century-Fox Triumph
Blazes With Thrills, Romance of Fabulous Frisco

Packed with action that's tough and love that's rough... thrilling with the exciting hurly-burly of one of America's most fabulous play spots... and starring George Raft, Joan Bennett, Vivian Blaine and Peggy Ann Garner, "Nob Hill" the gazzling new 20th Century-Fox Technicolor drama-with-music, opens Sunday at the A. & G. Theatre.

Cast Studded with Stars
George Raft, in his greatest role to date, is seen as the owner of the "Gold Coast," Frisco's most famous cabaret. Rough and tough, yet generous with money and romance, Raft is known to all as "The Angel." Joan Bennett is seen as the bold and beautiful blue blood from Nob Hill who risks all for a taste of the thrills the Barbary Coast—and "The Angel"—have to offer. Radiant Vivian Blaine, the "Cherry Blonde," who catapulted to stardom in a spectacular short time, is the "Gold Coast's" star entertainer with more than a professional interest in her boss, George Raft. And to top it all,
"Nob Hill" presents Peggy Ann Garner in a new kind of role for her, one as appealing and demanding as the role she played with such sensational success in "A Tree Grows in Brooklyn."

The lusty and enthralling story of a warmly human conflict between the Barbary Coast denizens and the Nob Hill aristocrats—and of the man who gambled love in an attempt to bridge the chasm between the two—is crowded with scenes of excitement and poignant emotional impact.

Spectacular Production
In reproducing the richly colorful Barbary Coast district with its bizarre cafes and celebrated Chinatown as well as the magnificence of Nob Hill, Producer Andre Daven has given the film the benefit of one of the most lavish and breathtakingly beautiful Technicolor productions of the screen year.

"Nob Hill" boasts three new hit songs by Jimmy McHugh and Harold Adamson—"I Walked In With My Eyes Wide Open," "I Don't Care Who Knows It" and "Touring San Francisco," as well as several turn-of-the-century favorites. All are sung by Vivian Blaine in scenes highlighted with dazzling dance routines created by Nick Castle.

Featured in the cast of the hit film are Alan "Falstaff" Openshaw, Reed, B. S. Pully, Emil Coleman and Edgar Barrier. "Nob Hill" was directed by Henry Hathaway.

The legal sale of beer was recently resumed in Lauderdale County, after two years of litigation.

Hundreds of applications for retail beer permits flooded the Meridian district office of the State Tax Commission. Some were from retailers qualified to sell beer. Some were not.

This Committee immediately placed its facilities at the disposal of the Tax Commission. A thorough and unbiased investigation of each applicant was made.

As a result, beer is now being sold in Meridian and Lauderdale County by established and respectable retailers who are held in good repute in their community.

This Committee is determined that wholesome conditions surround the sale of beer wherever it is sold.

Is There any difference in savings banks?

For more than a number of years mutual savings banks in the State of Mississippi have gone thru every cycle of prosperity and depression without ever yet being compelled to tell their depositors, "We are sorry we cannot return your deposits." There is more to a savings bank than safety. There is sound counsel supplied by courteous officers, there is advice to those who have problems pertaining to the building of homes, travel, education, deaths, wills and a hundred and one other things that affect our daily lives.
